A Desktop Solution for Better Wellbeing

Wellbeing at work requires a balance of time seated and standing to keep workers active, engaged and energized.

Work healthier and perform at your peak with Steelcase® Active Lift Riser – a desktop solution that can easily be placed on any worksurface for effortless transitions between sitting and standing throughout the day.

Tested to Steelcase standards and backed by our warranty, Active Lift Riser is a superior desktop alternative for experiencing the benefits of vertical movement while you work.

STAY IN YOUR FLOW

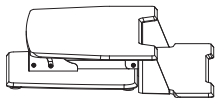

With a compact and hardworking two-tier design, Active Lift Riser supports an array of technologies—monitors, laptops, keyboards and smart phones—while a discrete opening in back enables cord and cable management. Best-in-class engineering and a simple, one-touch lift-and-lock mechanism ensure superior stability and performance. Your work-in-progress raises and lowers with you quietly and smoothly, so you can stay focused and productive.

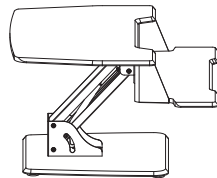

ENDLESS SUPPORT FOR DYNAMIC WORK

Adjustability with no presets means you can always create a personalized experience that's exactly right for your wants and needs. No matter how tall or short you are, which technologies you use, what posture feels best or who else might be sharing your workspace, Active Lift Riser will always perfectly adjust to you in any environment.
